Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 62-63 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kawamata et al. (cited by applicant JP2001-75449A). The image forming apparatus by Kawamata et al. teaches an inclined transfer belt 1; image forming sections (figure 1) wherein the cleaning device arranged above said developing device (figure 1). The transfer belt is an inclined belt because it has an inclined surface (figure 1).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 2852

4. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

5. Claims 65-77 and 82 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kataoka et al. in view of Ohtoshi et al (6,519,428). Kataoka et al. teaches an inclined intermediate transfer belt, a developing device arranged above a cleaning device, and a fixing device arranged in a space caused by the inclination of the belt. The fixing device is arranged in a space not occupied by the belt. Kataoka does not teach the claimed cleaning device or process cartridge.

Ohtoshi et al. teaches an inclined transfer belt 8; process cartridges (figure 2) arranged along the transfer belt 8; each process cartridge has a developing device 22A; cleaning device 20, 29, 30 where the developing device arranged above said cleaning device (figure 1) and wherein the cleaning device comprises a cleaning blade, an electric field roller, and fur brush (figure 2). Ohtoshi et al. teaches that the claimed cleaning device and process cartridges are known in the art. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to use the teachings of Ohtoshi et al. with the image forming apparatus of Kataoka et al. since it is known in the art for enhanced cleaning a maintenance convenience. The examiner takes official notice that it is known in the art use a fixing belt, formed an intermediate transfer belt of several layers, form an agitating section in the developing device, and a control section. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to use these conventional teachings with the image forming apparatus of Kataoka et al. since it is known in the art to provide a controlled image forming apparatus that provides high quality images.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Prior Art

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Day et al. and Takada teach pertinent prior art.

Contact Information

8. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Quana M. Grainger whose telephone number is 571-272-2135. The examiner can normally be reached on 8am-6pm.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, David Gray can be reached on 571-272-2119. The fax phone number for the organization where this application or proceeding is assigned is 571-273-8300.
